

A new intermodal platform for Liege airport

The European Union will support with over €1 million from the TEN-T Programme a series of studies that will lead to the realisation of an intermodal platform at Liège's airport in Belgium in order to seamlessly move freight between road, rail and air.

Source: Air Transport News